The RWMA Resistance Welding School presented during FABTECH assembles world-class resistance welding experts to provide training and share the experiences, techniques and tips they have honed throughout their careers. This intensive two-day course is packed with informative and instructional sessions as well as practical application of resistance welding theory, equipment, application requirements, and more.

LEARN FROM THE BEST IN RESISTANCE WELDING

The RWMA Resistance Welding School presented during FABTECH assembles world-class resistance welding experts to provide training and share the experiences, techniques and tips they have honed throughout their careers. This intensive two-day course is packed with informative and instructional sessions as well as practical application of resistance welding theory, equipment, application requirements, and more.

Presented during

FABTECH

November 12–13, 2019

McCormick Place | Chicago, IL

- Day One: Machines, materials, electrodes, power systems and processes.
- Day Two: Machine set-up, maintenance, quality standards and controls.
- Q & A Panel for students to get instructor feedback on work-related projects.
- Programming designed for Resistance welding technicians, supervisors, production managers, operators, trainers and educators.
- All career stages, beginner to accomplished.

$795 AWS Members / $895 for Non-Members

Registration is limited

For more information or to register, go to aws.org/rwschoolfall